

Special Notice

Regarding chemicals & precious metals recovery

As many of you already know, iodine is now on the Federal List of Evil Chemicals, as some knot heads figured out how to use it in drug manufacturing. Although we still sell the report for Iodine Leaching, supplies are understandably more difficult to locate. We DO NOT sell any forms of it, nor can recommend who might, except to point out that ordering it will make you a "Person of Interest", subject to intimidation, etc., as some of our clients have reported and complained about, even though it is a fine extraction chemical for Gold separations.

The availability of other essential chemicals as well continue to be limited or suppressed, such as Nitric Acid, a veritable MUST for removing trash metals, Silver and refining. Now lumped together with those used in explosives, drugs and other illegal purposes, you will have to be more creative in making your own or alternating techniques.

As a result, we have had to eliminate many of the viable options once open and free to use for all Americans, culling these from our offerings.
